The Marino occasional chair and footstool reference the qualities and features of ercol design classics, through the considered design aesthetic. Available in seven carefully selected fabrics complimented with a warm timber finish exclusive to John Lewis. Its elegance and smooth flowing lines, constructed from steam bent solid ash, using traditional craftsmanship and modern furniture making techniques, create a striking contemporary and comfortable collection.

ENGLAND SINCE 1920

Lucian Ercolani founded ercol in 1920 in High Wycombe the heartland of English furniture making. Intent on designing and producing beautiful and honest furniture, both design and people were the cornerstones of his company from the very beginning.

The ercol brand is synonymous with refined elegant timeless furniture combined with considered functionality and renowned for its design excellence. Our passion for innovation and beautiful design is as strong today as it always has been. Lucian Ercolani was a natural designer sketching his designs in note books before developing the ideas into furniture.

Ercol remains privately owned and managed by the same family combined with expert professional management, our gifted, passionate in-house design team and production engineers collaborate with our factory and partners around the world to produce furniture made with Pride, Integrity and Authenticity.
