John Lewis offer five distinctive ranges of kitchen. The John Lewis First, Core, Continental and Classic Collections and the branded Alno range. Each provides a wide selection of options so we can offer the kitchen that's right for you at a price that's affordable. All Kitchens sold by John Lewis come with a ten year guarantee.

Ranges

First Collection

The First Collection brings together everything you would expect from a John Lewis kitchen at an extremely affordable price. The choice of doors has been carefully selected to provide a balance of classic and contemporary looks and the range of units allows you to create your own individual design either independently or supported by our planning service.

Every kitchen unit is delivered assembled for easy installation. Soft-close comes as standard on drawers and hinged doors, and there are a wide choice of internal accessories that can be added to make the most of the available space.

Core Collection

The Core Collection combines classic and contemporary looks, quality construction and exceptional attention to detail. These kitchens cover a very broad range of styles and door finishes. Each style offers a variety of benefits depending on the materials and finishes selected and you can choose from a huge number of units to maximise your space. Again the units are delivered pre assembled to minimise the level of disruption when being installed.

Continental Collection

The Continental Collection brings colourful exuberance and elegant design to your kitchen. The collection features 4 different door styles in a range of fashionable silks and gloss colours, as well as matt and gloss wood effects. All may be complemented by cabinets in a choice of either coloured or wood-grain finishes.

Curved units add a softer feel, and a wider choice of handle styling lets you individualise your kitchen. Handle-less doors provide sleek minimalism, while the inset aluminium handles offer a chic, contemporary look.

Classic Collection

The Classic Collection was designed to bring beautiful bespoke kitchens to your home. Featuring in-frame doors in a classic shaker or contemporary style, the Classic Collection can be ordered in a Natural Oak shaker, or any one of 25 painted colours, from the understated to the vibrant. For something completely different, select a ready to paint option and create your very own unique finish.

You can achieve a variety of looks, from a stylish contemporary feel to the more traditional grandeur of a superb period kitchen. Each can be supplemented with a comprehensive range of hand finished individual feature pieces including large pantry cabinets, old style dressers, decorative island units and solid timber drawers.

Alno

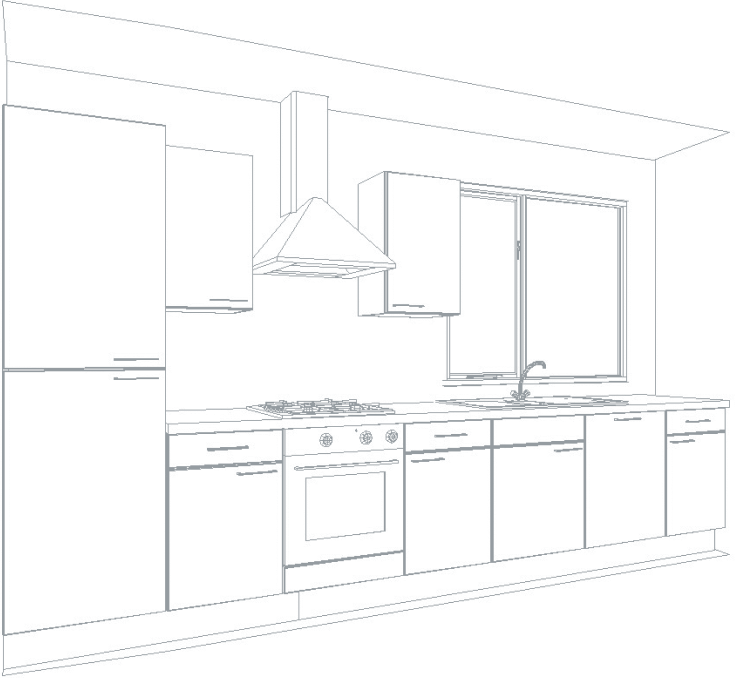

Alno is a branded German manufacturer which produces a very high quality kitchen. Using the very best materials they offer a number of bespoke accessories to compliment their designs which not only look beautiful but also make the kitchen as efficient to use as possible. Again, units are delivered pre assembled to speed up installation and minimise the level of disruption.

If any of the prices alter during the life of this catalogue then the correct price will be notified at the time of ordering. Please note this publication supersedes all previous publications and is valid from 1 February 2014 until 31st January 2015
